

September 22, 2010
(Circ. Online)

PlayNetwork, maurices, Sonicbids Look For Independent Female Rockers

Nationwide "Small Town Sound" search begins

PlayNetwork, maurices, Sonicbids Look For Independent Female Rockers

PlayNetwork, maurices and Sonicbids are looking for the next best independent female rockers in a nationwide talent search called "Small Town Sound." Artists can start submitting their auditions today through October 8 at this location:
<http://www.mauricesmusic.sonicbids.com/>

Here are the deets:

<http://www.mauricesmusic.sonicbids.com/> * Entries will go through three rounds of selection, a public vote online and a panel vote by judges including The Bangles, Chrissie Hynde and Sick of Sarah.

* The 10 finalists will have two weeks to create an original song to be live on the site for public voting.

* Grand prize winner will perform locally and have a chance to open for The Bangles and Sick of Sarah at a major music festival in the spring.

Those prizes - having The Bangles or Chrissie Hynde critique your work and the chance to open for the bands at a festival- are well worth the time it takes to enter this contest, so where are all my female rockers at? Do it!!

PlayNetwork develops content to create a soundtrack for brands and produced the following content from The Bangles, Chrissie Hynde and Sick of Sarah for the contest to encourage women in music with "Small Town Sound:"

- Live videos
- New releases
- Concerts
- Photos
- Exclusive MP3s

Are you an independent female rocker planning to enter this contest?

—Amy Sciarretto
09.22.10